

Savas Saygili

Head of Information Technology Renaissance Construction CIS

Savas Saygili, Head of information technology department CIS of Renaissance Construction since January 2011. CIS region operations servicing 9 countries.

Savas is responsible for Renaissance and all construction IT project architect (setup, preparation and installation), creating new project and security consultant of all CIS region and also main responsibility is developing IT jobs for Renaissance Construction.

Prior to joining Renaissance Construction, Savas Saygili was chief of Information security and audit team of biggest bank it company of Turkey FINTEK. He was responsible for the company's enterprise level security architecture and manage penetration test team also design System architecture for all bank client systems.

Prior to joining FINTEK, Savas spent two years Pro-G information security and research company senior system and security expert, penetration testing specialist and auditor for multiple large-scale projects. Network design and implementation assessment. VLAN traffic inspection and consultancy.

Savas started his career in Microsoft training partner company NETSOFT. Savas was Microsoft Certified Trainer, gave consultant government projects, implementing software development and architecture.

He is from Turkey, Savas is a semi-professional rock climber. When he has time, he likes to traveling different countries. And his favorite things are meeting new technologies and try to understand How is works.